Professor Jeffrey Braithwaite

Professor of Health Systems Research,
Macquarie University, Australia.

Professor Jeffrey Braithwaite is Founding Director of the Australian Institute of Health Innovation, Director of the Centre for Healthcare Resilience and Implementation Science and Professor of Health Systems Research at Macquarie University.

He is a leading health services and systems researcher with an international reputation for his work investigating and contributing to systems improvement. Theories and ideas Professor Braithwaite has helped shape, formulate or devise, and provided research findings for, are now in common use as a result of his work: multi-method, triangulated approaches to research, the boundary-less hospital, accreditation models in general practice and beyond, clinician-managers as key players in reform initiatives, fundamental principles for the governance of health systems, diversity in clinical professional groups, inter-professional learning and culture change rather than restructuring as a more sustainable strategy for reform.

Professor Braithwaite is well known for bringing management and leadership concepts and evidence into the clinical arena and he has published extensively, with over 450 refereed contributions (including 12 edited books, 69 book chapters, 345 articles and 58 refereed conference papers; and 284 peer-reviewed abstracts and posters; and 201 other publications, e.g., international research reports). He is the recipient of 46 awards, including the prestigious Health Services Research Award by Research Australia in 2015 and multiple Editor's Choice awards for papers published in International Journal for Quality in Health Care.
